He is a son of David Thompson of this county, and another of the boys from this section to win a place on our honor roll.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for the many kindnesses shown us during the illness and death of our husband and father. We deeply appreciate your kindness and sympathy.

Mrs. J. G. Adams and family, Overda, Ky.

THE FOSTER HOME.

Chairman G. C. Baker is meeting with fair success in raising Lawrence county's quota of the Stephen Foster fund to buy the home of the author of "My Old Kentucky Home." He still lacks subscriptions, however, and asks that amounts be sent him.

FOXES AND OWLS VISIT MOONSHINE STILL

Vanceburg, Ky., May 7.—In the vicinity of Petersville, near here, the foxes have been sitting around apathetically, and four or five have been found dead. It is reported, while a boy killed one with a rock.

Owls were also found in a stupor. A post mortem was held over the foxes and it was decided that they had met death by a slow poison, something like wood alcohol.

Mash from moonshine stills is believed to have been consumed.

REVIVAL CLOSING AT M. E. CHURCH

The revival meeting closes Thursday evening of this week at the M. E. Church. It has been conducted by Rev. Bancroft, who has at each service preached practical and inspiring sermons which have been very helpful to the members of this church and all who attended.

Rev. Bancroft is a returned missionary. He spent a number of years in the mission fields of India. Last Friday evening a large crowd attended and very much enjoyed the pageant given under his direction.

Excellent music was furnished by the choir throughout the meeting.

BOY'S LAST SMOKE LIGHTS DYNAMITE IN HIS POCKET

When Carl Newman, 15 years old, at Portsmouth, O., attempted to toss a lighted cigarette away it lodged in his pocket with a number of dynamite caps, exploding them. The lad was virtually blown to pieces and six companions were more or less seriously injured. Thurold M. Carmichael, 13, lost a leg. The accident happened Monday.

A. J. THOMPSON CALLED BY DEATH

Mr. A. J. Thompson, better known as "Johns" Thompson, died last Saturday at his home at Ironton, Ohio, after an illness of only a few hours. Pneumonia poisoning, resulting from eating canned meat, was the cause of his death. He became ill Friday night about 10 o'clock and died Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The body was brought to Louisa Monday morning and was taken to the home of relatives, Mr. and Mrs. George Picklesimer. The funeral was held at the M. E. Church South at 2 p. m. on Monday. Interment on Pine Hill followed the funeral service. Rev. J. D. Bell, pastor, conducted the services in the presence of a large congregation. Many of those present came from Busseyville and Adams, the former home of Mr. Thompson. At the funeral service Miss Opal Spencer and Mr. Will Cain sang a beautiful duet, accompanied by Mrs. G. R. Vinson.

Mr. Thompson was 54 years old. He is survived by the wife and eight children: Mrs. Ethel Peters, Mrs. Charley Frazier and Roscoe Thompson, of Louisa; Mrs. Jeff Shannon of Coal Grove, Ohio; Oscar Thompson, of Marion, Ohio; Gladys, Cora and Jack.

He was a son of Rev. A. J. Thompson, of Adams, this county. He lived in Louisa for several years before moving to Ohio. He left here seven years ago and for four years had lived at Ironton, where he had bought a home. The fact was mentioned at the funeral by the pastor that the last work done in Louisa by Mr. Thompson at his trade as a carpenter was the erection of the panel work fronting the choir space in the church.

He joined the M. E. Church South at the age of 20 years. Recently he had renewed his vows and was ready when the end came with such brief warning, which fact goes far to comfort the family and friends in their grief.

Mr. Thompson had few or no enemies. He applied himself diligently at his trade. As a citizen he stood for law and order and good morals. His death brings sorrow to many relatives and friends in Lawrence county.

ATTENDED FUNERAL.

Among relatives who were here to attend the funeral and burial of Mr. A. J. Thompson were his wife and two daughters, Cora and Gladys, and Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Shannon, of Coal Grove, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thompson, of Marion, Ohio; Rube Berry and daughter, Cerna, and John Picklesimer and wife, of Coal Grove, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Burton, of Thealka, and Mrs. Lee McCowan, of Adams, and John B. and Chris Thompson, of Busseyville.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank every one who was so kind to us in our bereavement, all who offered their assistance, and especially do we desire to thank Rev. Bell and Rev. Hewitt for their services, Mr. Snyder for his kind and efficient help, Mr. B. E. Adams for his thoughtful kindness, and all who furnished cars and flowers.—Mrs. Johns Thompson and family, Mrs. Cora Burton, Mrs. Hester Carter, Mr. and Mrs. George Picklesimer.

LOUISA GIRL WINS PRIZE IN CATLETTSBURG SCHOOL

At the high school building in Catlettsburg last Friday afternoon, Miss Morgan introduced her style show. It consisted of a display given by the young ladies sewing class. They exhibited the dresses and middie suits made by them by wearing them and marching through the aisles. The show was graceful and pretty. The dresses were made by the girls themselves. The merchants gave prizes for neatness and skill in workmanship. Louisa friends of Miss Caroline Burns will be pleased to know that she was awarded one of the prizes. The one she received was given by Mr. Walker Porter.

JOHN N. PETERS ILL.

Mrs. T. C. Linger, of Findlay, Ohio, was in Louisa Tuesday. She is here to see her father, Mr. John N. Peters, who is very ill at the old home at Saltwater, W. Va. Mrs. Peters is at the home of Mrs. Linger in Findlay where she went in April for medical treatment. She will return home as soon as she is able, but the shock caused by the news of the critical illness of her husband left her unable to make the trip at this time. She is confined to her bed and under the care of a physician. For a year or more Mr. Peters' health had not been good and the past few weeks has been failing rapidly.

FAMILY REUNION.

A few days ago a dinner was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kinster in Port Gay, W. Va., to celebrate the 70th birthday anniversary of Mr. Kinster. His children presented him a purse of $70. His son, J. B. Kinster, wife and daughters, Ella Marie and Hazel, of Louisa, were among those who attended. Others were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kinster, of Kenova, W. Va.; Chas. Trent, wife and daughter, and Roy Trent, wife and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Welch and daughter, of Rittman, Ohio, and Mrs. Walter Yates, of Huntington, W. Va.

MOVING TO KERMIT.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Taylor and children, Ralph, Verne and Alford, are moving this week to Kermit, W. Va., from Lock avenue where they had lived since coming to Louisa a year or two ago. Mr. Taylor was interested in the oil fields.

They made many friends here who hope that some time they may return to Louisa to reside.

Mr. Taylor has taken the position of superintendent with the United Fuel Gas Company, succeeding Mr. R. C. Leard who has gone to another district.

New Law Saves Large Sum on Co. Treasurers

Pikeville, Ky., April 14, 1921. Hon. E. E. Shannon, Louisa, Kentucky.

Dear Sir—Answering your letter of the 10th inst., relating to the salary of the Treasurer of Pike county under the old law, as compared to the condition under the act of 1920, I beg to advise that the salary of the County Treasurer of our county formerly was fixed at the sum of nine hundred dollars ($900.00) per year. But under the statute passed at the last session of the Legislature, the present County Treasurer is paid no salary, but pays into the Treasury interest upon the daily balances at the rate of 3 per cent per annum, and furnishes own office and supplies.

The taxpayers of Pike county are saved for the year of 1921 at least five thousand dollars ($5000.00) in virtue of this piece of legislation.

Very truly,

E. E. TRIVETTE.

County Judge Pike County.

This bill creating this law was introduced in the Legislature at the last session by Hon. E. E. Shannon, of the Lawrence-Elliott district. It will save the counties of Kentucky a total of $150,000 to $200,000 per year.

BIG MINES CLOSE UNTIL SEPTEMBER

The Elk Horn Mining Corporation has shut down its great coal mines on Beaver Creek and they are to remain closed until next September. Like all other mines that have attempted to run during the past three months without a contract made last year, they can not break even at the prevailing prices.

Not only is the demand extremely light, but the prices offered by the few buyers are below cost of production. Wages are still very high. Adjustment must come in this line just the same as in all others. The mild winter enabled many consumers to carry over stocks of coal. The factories are not running sufficiently to consume much coal. If the stagnation in business continues another year there will not be enough coal business this year to give the mines any profitable business.

SPECIAL JUDGE.

Judge A. N. Cisco of Grayson has been designated by Governor Morrow as Special Judge of the Lee Circuit Court, to hold a term of that court beginning on Monday, May 9th.

The following teachers were selected last Friday night for the 1921-22 term of the Louisa Public School: Gus Osborn, principal, with Mrs. E. W. Kirk, Miss Maude Smith, Mrs. Nora Thompson Berry, and Mrs. W. M. Byington, assistants.

LOUISA BOY WINS SUCCESS IN SOUTH

FRANK CRUTCHER PROMOTED TO BE AUDITOR OF A FLORIDA RAILROAD.

J. Frank Crutcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Crutcher of Louisa, has been appointed Auditor of the Gulf, Florida & Alabama Railway, vice George Reed, who resigned. His headquarters are at Pensacola, Florida.

Thus the name of another young man is added to the long list of those who have gone out from the Big Sandy Valley and made good in the world. The NEWS is always delighted to have opportunity to record a name on this honor roll. Our files covering nearly 36 years of intimate history of the Big Sandy people show a surprising number of men from these parts who have succeeded in the world in lines that demand superior intellect, perseverance and ambition.

Frank Crutcher was educated in Louisa schools, where he made a good record and ranked as a bright student. He got his railroad training and a worthy wife at Cannel City, Ky., where he was employed by the Ohio & Kentucky Railway. Two or three years ago he went to Florida with Mr. Reed, formerly of Louisa. We are not alone in our desire to congratulate Mr. Crutcher. All Louisa people will join us when they read this piece of news. This case should be an inspiration to boys and young men of this place, showing them that success will come to those who are willing to pay the price of close application and intelligent effort.

State is Given Road Fund of Letcher County

Frankfort, Ky.—Its entire road bond issue of $250,000 has been turned over to the State Highway Commission by Letcher county, to be expended on the road between Whitesburg and Jenkins, by way of McRoberts, and between Whitesburg and the Perry county line. The only condition is that the State when able will expend a like amount. The Consolidation Coal Co. has agreed to purchase the bonds at par as the money is needed.

The commission also accepted a proposal for construction of the State project between Ashland and Greenup. Boyd county will build to the Greenup line and the Ashland Chamber of Commerce has raised $25,000 to meet any equal sum appropriated by the Greenup Fiscal court. The latter has agreed to relinquish $50,000 of the money owed it by the State for advancements under the old State-aid law, in return for the State's expenditure on the project.

The commission accepted a total of $1 miles of road for maintenance, among which was Carter county, 11 miles, Grayson-Boyd road.

Methodist Bishops Assigned to World Fields

With announcement of the assignments of bishops for 1921-22, the session of the College of Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, closed in Louisville on Monday night of last week.

Most of the bishops went to Nashville, where, on Wednesday, the annual meeting of the Board of Missions was held, following this week by a meeting of the Sunday School Board.

Bishops Denny, McMurray and Darlington were associated with Bishop Hendrix in the First Episcopal district because the latter is not physically as strong as formerly.

As bishops Almsworth, McMurry and Darlington were assigned to the European field with Bishop Atkins that a more comprehensive survey of the situation in Europe, following the war, may be made. They will sail in July and be gone about two months.

Bishop John C. Kluge was relieved of the presidency of conferences because of failing health, but is to be associated, as much as his physical condition will permit, with Bishop McMurry in the conduct of the Ninth Episcopal District, made up of Northwest Texas and Mississippi.

The last year, the College of Bishops announced, was the most prosperous in the history of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, the membership having been increased by 100,000.

Assignments as announced by the College of Bishops, extend to points throughout the world.

SUMMER SCHOOL FOR TEACHERS IN LOUISA

County Superintendent Dock Jordan has arranged for the summer school for teachers to be held in Louisa, beginning June 20. It will be conducted by a man from Richmond, Ky., and Prof. Byington. The former will be in charge of the professional training and Prof. Byington the high school department.

Each teacher who attends will pay $10 tuition. For this he receives five weeks professional training and five weeks high school work, entitling him to a credit of one and one-sixths units in high and the training as required by law.

The school will be in session at the Kentucky Normal College building from June 20 to July 22.

SLAYER, PARDONED, KILLS ANOTHER

Jackson, Ky.—Donor Neace, recently acquitted of the killing of Beecher Noble, was shot and killed on Lost Creek by Grover Fugate, who was pardoned a few weeks ago by Governor Morrow. Fugate killed Green Noble about four years ago and was sent to the penitentiary for fifteen years. Fugate escaped.

This is the third man recently pardoned from Breathitt to be implicated in recent killings. Kelley Robinson, pardoned some few months ago, was killed a Hazard early this year. Brock Little, who was pardoned last year, was killed in January near his home in this county.

CITIZENS BUILD ROADS UP TUG

The way to make the roads passable is to get out and make them passable. This has been demonstrated very recently by the citizens along Tug river between Louisa and the Martin county line.

A month ago, and for "ages" previous, it was impossible to get through on that route. There was a big "slip" in the road at one place that occurred long ago, making an impassable place. At many other points the condition was very bad.

About three weeks ago Robt. W. Vinson started a movement amongst the citizens to get out and repair the road without any compensation. The proposition was enthusiastically received and resulted in 53 men and several boys volunteering to give their labor. Also, the services of seven teams were contributed.

To make the story short this little army of good citizens made a road over which automobiles may run to the Martin county line. A culvert and fill was put in at one place that would have cost the county about $300.

We are told that the men and boys who worked out this road put more "pep" into the job than was ever before seen in that part of the county.

This is a very commendable example. If followed in all parts of the county the roads would be kept open for traffic at all times. Also, that spirit would bring real roads all over the county sooner than we may ever hope to get them otherwise. If the county officials would follow up such work as this with a patrol system the results would be fine. If the Tug road were divided into sections now and contracts let to citizens along the way to keep the road in repair, it would be maintained. Under such a plan the contractor cures a mudhole as soon as it starts; he keeps the ditches open and the road dressed. He can not afford to neglect repairs.

Following is a list of the men who worked the road free:

Luther Vinson, Sherman Vinson, W. S. Vinson, Jr., Benjamin Vinson, Samuel Vinson, R. W. Vinson, John Moore, Cecil Murphy, Roy Murphy, Col. Hardwick, Fred Hardwick, Homer Hardwick, Geo. Hardwick, Lafayette Cox, S. V. Maynard, John Hammonds, Sr., Cam Derfield, Taylor Frazier, Wayne Maynard, Clyde Walker, Chas. E. Peters, John Rucker, Elijah McReynolds, Wm. Sparks, Bennett Sparks, Linsky Sparks, Millard Derfield, Nile R. Bartram, Pierce Sammons, Dan Ratcliff, Jr., Irvin Frazier, Russell Manard, Jas. Pruitt, Taylor Frazier's two boys, W. D. Frazier and boys, Richard Williamson's boys, Henry Maynard, Linsky Sammons, Jean Wallace, Bert Wallace, Gid Wallace, Sam Branham, Tom Branham, Frank Hammonds, Jr., Jay Hammonds, G. L. Endicott.

The following furnished teams: R. W. Vinson, George Hardwick, Wm. Sparks, Cam Derfield, Millard Derfield, Taylor Frazier.

Postmasters to be Named from Three Best Grades

Washington, May 10.—Civil service restrictions governing the choice of postmasters were modified by President Harding today to give the Administration a freer hand in exercising its own judgment in regard to the qualifications of applicants.

In an executive order affecting approximately 13,000 postoffices of the first, second and third classes, the President authorized the selection of any one of the first three on the eligible list as determined by open competitive examinations.

Under an order of President Woodrow Wilson, the Executive could exercise no such choice, but was required to appoint the applicant standing at the head of the list.

Today's action was the first important step taken by the new Administration in regard to the general problem of patronage, and is understood to have been decided on after extended conferences between the President, Postmaster General Will Hays and other high Administration officials. It has been forecast as a part of the post-office reorganization plan under contemplation by the Postmaster General.

The text of President Harding's order follows:

"When a vacancy exists or hereafter occurs in the position of postmaster at an office of the first, second or third class, if such vacancy is not filled by nomination of some person within the competitive classified civil service who has the required qualifications, then the Postmaster General shall certify the fact to the Civil Service Commission, which shall forthwith hold an open competitive examination to test the fitness of applicants to fill such vacancy and when such examination has been held and the papers in connection therewith have been received, said commission shall certify the results thereof to the Postmaster General, who shall submit to the President the name of one of the highest three qualified eligibles for appointment to fill such vacancy unless it is established that the character or residence of any such applicant disqualifies him for appointment.

"Provided: That at the expiration of the term of any persons appointed to such position through examination before the Civil Service Commission, the Postmaster General may, in his discretion, submit the name of such person to the President for renomination without further examination.

"No person who has passed his sixty-fifth birthday or who has not actually resided within the delivery of such vacancy, shall be given the examination herein provided for.

"If, under this order, it is desired to make nomination for any office of a person in the competitive classified service, such person must first be found by the Civil Service Commission to meet the minimum requirements for the office."

LOUISA PUBLIC SCHOOLS CLOSED LAST FRIDAY

The Louisa public schools closed a successful year last week with a pleasing program. Miss Sallie Gearhart was the principal of the school and had charge of the affair.

The teachers and pupils of the entire school assembled in Miss Gearhart's room and had part in the exercises. J. B. Horton made a splendid address. His subject was "The New Kentucky in the Old Kentucky Home." Rev. John Cheap and Rev. J. D. Bell also were among the visitors who spoke. Many parents were present. Diplomas and certificates of promotion were presented. In January thirty of the eighth grade pupils successfully passed the common school diploma examination and twenty others are to take it Friday and Saturday of this week. Special mention is due Joe McDowell, grandson of M. H. Johns, and Cora Elizabeth Skaggs, daughter of Lee Skaggs, who were in the sixth grade at the beginning of the term. They completed the sixth, seventh and eighth grade, both receiving common school diplomas last January.

On Friday Mr. Orr was present and addressed the school. A picnic had been planned for that day, but the weather not being suitable the lunch was enjoyed in the building.

Miss Gearhart has been a teacher in the Louisa schools the past eleven years. This is her last term as she expects to rest from teaching. She is one of Kentucky's best instructors. Her assistants this year were Miss Garnet See, Miss Mary Compton, Mrs. W. M. Byington and Miss Dora Johns.

BRICK PLANT AT WAYNE.

J. C. Burchett, formerly of Louisa, is interested in a brick plant at Wayne, W. Va., as shown by the following article from the Wayne News:

The Wayne Brick and Tile Works, a concern organized some three years ago by local capital, was sold on Saturday by Dr. G. R. Burgess, as trustee, to three Williamson business men. The local plant will continue here and the making of brick will be resumed as soon as some new machinery can be put on the ground.

The purchasers of the local plant are C. H. Whitecarver, C. D. Martin and J. C. Burchett, all of Williamson. It is announced that some $25,000 will be spent on the plant in order to replace some of the old machinery with modern appliances. It is also planned to increase the output of the plant. The new company will confine its output to ordinary building brick. About twenty-five men will be employed when the plant is opened but this number will be increased as the size of the plant is enlarged.

The farmer is some belated on account of wet and cold weather here.

Fruit is most killed here by the late winter in springtime.

It looks very strange to see so many people wrapped up in winter overcoats and the mountain sides so green, a good fire burning in each home instead of a fan.

Relief work for the Armenians is being pushed in the United States as one of the objects of the Near East Relief campaign. These people have suffered all kinds of atrocities at the hands of the Turks because they persist in being Christians rather than Mohammedans. It is a most worthy cause.

Of course, the United States is not going to have anything to do with the League of Nations, oh no! But the League of Nations and a couple of other representatives of this country have just been designated to sit in the meetings of the Council created by and a part of the League. It is hardly probable that they will be simply "innocent bystanders." It is now admitted by the authorities at Washington that the United States is a part of the world and as such must have a hand in its affairs.

CHURCH NEWS AND OTHER MATTERS OF RELIGIOUS NATURE

A CHALLENGE TO METHODIST LOYALTY.

By Bishop U. V. W. Darlington.

For a day such as this the Church must carry through an enterprise that demands sacrificial service—one that is a challenge to the faith and to the spirit of consecration of Methodist people. We have this in the program of the Christian Education Movement of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

As is understood, it means far more than the getting of $33,000,000 for our schools. The financial objective is no small item nor is it one of the incidental features of the Movement. Our schools must have the money asked for if they continue to live and serve. They have wrought well during all the years gone, and in the achievements of our Methodism they have had a large share. We did not give them all they needed even in the days when it was not demanded of them that they take rank with the strong secular institutions of learning in our country. They must in this day have rating with the other institutions of their territory; and Methodist people, even in this time of financial depression, are able to give what Methodist schools need. To fail to pledge the money asked would be to our discredit and would make uncertain our future educational progress. The present generation of Methodists, in the providence of God, have the opportunity and the high obligation to serve the Methodism of tomorrow.

In the giving of our money we shall do something more than guarantee the future service of Methodist schools of today. We shall, at the same time, bring our people to see more clearly than they now see how vital to the future prosperity of the Church and the nation except we build them into ideals cannot be realized in the life of the nation except we build them into the home and the school. In saving ourselves we shall help to save the nation. In the losing of our lives in this larger service we shall give to the nation and the world, we shall find that larger life to which our Lord calls the Methodism of today.

The Christian Education Movement brings us our best opportunity until now. The faith of the Church was pledged to this enterprise, pledged at a time when we saw no way out of the difficulties that the Church and the nation faced except in the leadership of the Head of the Church. Shall we turn from this best opportunity because we question whether He still leads, or we doubt our inability to follow His leadership? Only one way is open to us, and that is forward with our Lord. We cannot turn back; we cannot fail to use what God has committed to the present generation of Methodists. In His name we shall meet this issue and shall complete this task.

Our Sunday School attendance was above the average last Sunday. Dr. Anderson preached a special sermon on "Mother's Day" to a splendid congregation. The attendance at our B. Y. P. We had no preaching services at night but worshipped with the M. E. Church, where Dr. Bancroft preached an inspiring sermon. Rev. Lindsey Waller will fill our pulpit next Sunday.

Our pastor left on Monday to attend the Southern Baptist Convention and will return in time to fill his regular appointments on the fourth Sunday.

A PREACHER WHO IS EQUAL TO THE JOB

From a reliable source we heard a story of a recent occurrence in Logan county, W. Va., that is quite interesting. At various mining camps an organized effort is being made to carry on mission work. Young ladies are used largely in this work because enough men can not be had. A big husky preacher has general supervision of a number of these missions. Recently he received an urgent call from one of the young ladies to come to her mission. He found her in great distress because a few exceedingly tough young fellows were trying to break up her meetings. One of the several methods they used was to sing "Casey Jones" when she announced a hymn.

After learning the facts the preacher thought the matter over carefully and decided to see the outlaws and talk it over. First he went to the local magistrate and put the case before him. Not getting much encouragement he told the official of his intention to see the men. The magistrate told him they lived in a hut some distance up in the woods and that he would endanger his life by going there. Seeing his determination to go the magistrate offered him a pistol. The preacher at first declined to take it, but finally decided to do so. He found the four fellows at their hut. They did not know him, but he went in and talked awhile about various things. Then he asked what they knew about the little mission. They swore about this and said they were going to break it up. Also, they were going to do violence to a preacher who was reported to be coming to help the young lady. At last he told them he was the preacher they referred to and advised them to give up their practice of disturbing the meetings. They did not relent and he left the cabin. When a short distance away he had a feeling that he should turn around. He wheeled suddenly and a bullet grazed his neck. He returned the fire and shot off of his assailant a part of one ear. The preacher conducted services at the mission that night without disturbance.

LOWMANVILLE

Old Georges Creek is coming to the front at last; land has advanced 800 per cent in price in the last five years, and is still advancing, with buyers waiting for someone to say, "I want to sell." Leasing oil and gas lands has been very active here for the past three years, but none seemed to have the nerve and grit to drill until Martin Rothen of Asheville, N. C., and Sheriff Sam J. Debord of Ashland, Ky., formed a partnership and leased up about 3000 acres in the Nelson Branch and Sugar Plum territory on Georges Creek. They expect to have two standard rigs on the ground within the next two weeks and will drill three wells at once, one on the head of Nelson branch, one on the head of Sugar Plum, and one near the mouth of Nelson branch. Oil men who have visited this section seem to think there is oil here; and Debord & Rothen are going after it.

The Mayo Trail up Georges Creek seems to be an assured fact, so after its completion and oil is struck in paying quantities this place will be very much alive. We have a good Sunday School several church buildings—and a few Christians—so when we get good roads and plenty of oil, this will be a good place to live.

Jasper Estep is confined to his bed with lung trouble.

Mrs. Mahala Chandler and daughter Ollie, of Omar, W. Va., are visiting relatives here.

Roscoe Scarberry sold his farm on Lost Creek to Elzie Hannah, consideration $550.00.

Henry Griffith and wife visited relatives at Blaine Saturday and Sunday.

Aunt Tilda Griffith, who has been sick during the past winter, is very much improved.

Frank Chandler and wife were in Paintsville Monday on business.

John Debord is preparing to build a new dwelling house.

Candidates have begun to put in their appearance, with the usual "Howdy-do" and "How are you, Bill," etc. And of course every fellow thinks he is going to get there; but say, Mr. Voter, before you promise any man your vote, make him get on his knees and pledge himself for good roads all over Lawrence county.

BLEVINS

Church was largely attended here Sunday.

Mrs. Arbie Gambill was calling on her sister, Mary Boggs, Sunday.

Jack Catton was calling on Aicy Ross Sunday afternoon.

Ray Stambaugh and Charley Smith were calling at J. M. Boggs' Sunday.

There will be church here next Sunday. Everybody come.

HARLAN COUNTY.

Harlan county was formed in 1819 out of sections of Floyd and Knott counties. It was the sixtieth county in order of formation and was named for Maj. Silas Harlan, a Virginian, who came to Kentucky in 1774 and took an active part in the war on the Indians. He built "Harlan's Station," seven miles above Harrodsburg in 1778. He was killed in the battle with the Indians at Blue Lick.

IMMIGRATION RESTRICTED.

Congress has passed the emergency immigration bill restricting admission of aliens to 3 per cent of each nationality resident in the United States in 1910. The bill is effective for four months beginning fifteen days after enactment. The vote on passage was 78 to 1. Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, opposing the measure.

As sent to conference, the measure would allow no exemption for any class or race of aliens in excess of the 3 per cent limitation and those entering under treaties and agreements.

AMBUSHING IN MINGO.

Shooting from ambush across the river from Mingo county to Pike county continues more or less frequently by the striking miners. Recently four or five strikers were killed by officers secreted in the hills. In one instance a sniper was shooting from behind a big tree. A member of the State police located him, with the help of a good field glass, and with a high power rifle the officer sent three bullets into the sniper's body. The friends of the dead man announced that death resulted from falling over a cliff.

WEST VIRGINIA TEACHERS
RECEIVE INCREASED SALARY

One of the most important acts of the late session of the West Virginia legislature was the passage of House Bill Number 81, which measure provides for an increase in the salary of school teachers.

This new law, which becomes effective July 1, 1921, establishes $50 a month a minimum for a third grade certificate, $65 a minimum for a second grade and $85 for a first grade. These sums are materially increased on a sliding scale which gives credit for practical experience in the school room or for special work done in normal schools and colleges. The additional sums are added to the basic salaries named above.

The law, as passed by both houses of the legislature, will effect practically every school teacher in Wayne county and in every instance will increase the present salaries. The law becomes effective July 1.—Wayne County News.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

A COLUMN DEDICATED TO TIRED MOTHERS AS THEY JOIN THE HOME CIRCLE AT EVENING TIDE.

The World is Too Much With Us.
The world is too much with us; late and soon,
Getting and spending we lay waste
our powers;
Little we see in Nature that is ours;
We have given our hearts away, a sordid gain,
A world that will be wailing on our death,
And as we are up-gathered now like sleeping
flowers,
For this, for everything, we are out of tune;
It moves us not—Great God! I'd rather be
A Pagan suckled in a creed outworn;
So might I, standing on this pleasant
leas,
Have glimpses that would make me less forlorn;
Have sight of Porteus rising from the sea;
Or hear old Triton blow his wreathed horn.

This is the time of the year when every human being—man, woman and child—should get out into the open air and wash cobwebs out of his brain. There is nothing as good as fresh air to strengthen frayed out nerves, and there is nothing as good as exercise to build up worn out tissues. About ninety per cent of the population pays doctors in the spring to give them a tonic to do away with that "tired feeling." If they would only be convinced there is no tonic in the world as good as them as God's fresh air, and it is absolutely free. The trouble may be that they have the American's way of thinking that unless a thing costs money it isn't any good.

Don't get the foolish notion into your head that to get fresh air you have to have an automobile that will take you whizzing about the country all huddled up, with your eyes straight ahead holding on until the next stop. That doesn't require any deep breathing. Better sit at home in such a case. It's much easier on your nerves and incidentally, your pocket-book. Get a pair of shoes that you can walk in and then go for a good hike every day. Walk until you get so tired that the only thing you can think about is the next step, and how you are going to take it. You'll find that you won't find yourself lying awake until the wee hours if you follow this program for a few days. You won't need any tonic from the doctor, though you may need an increased income to take care of a rapidly growing appetite. And things will taste so good that you won't recognize your old friends, bacon and eggs, bread and butter, and the rest of their kind and kin. They'll taste the way they did when you were a boy. An appetite like that is something the doctor can't give you. You've got to get it yourself.

It is not highly amusing, if not provocative of wrath, to hear a man complain of his home being cheerless when he adds nothing to its happiness? A man is greatly responsible for the ozone of his home. The day to his wife may have been one of the unusual care and hard work, but if the husband comes in cheerful from the field or his work outside, the weariness and care-worn look will disappear from his wife's face. A few sharp words we can always excuse for we always attribute them to the overtaxed nerves, but we can find not plausible excuse for sullenness on the part of the husband.

When any institution fails to earn sufficient cash for folks to try to keep the thing from going plumb to smash. Then it's always customary—just to keep it still alive—For somebody with a badge or two to institute a drive.

There's two kinds of discontent in this world—the discontent that works and the discontent that wrings its hands. The first gets what it wants, and the second loses what it has. There's no cure for the first but success; and there's no cure at all for the second.—Gordon Graham.

"A man's reach should exceed his grasp, else what's a Heaven for?" When he wrote those lines Browning knew the emptiness and dissatisfaction of a life that has achieved its goal too early.

Did you ever see a thoroughly ignorant man who admitted his ignorance? And haven't you seen plenty of wise men who will admit theirs.

THAT DULL ACHING

Don't worry and complain about a bad back. Get rid of it! For weak kidneys, lame and aching backs, your neighbors recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor! Read this statement:

W. E. Wiley, farmer, Box 56, Whitehouse, Ky., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are certainly all right for I have treated with them on different occasions and they always relieve me. My back, at times, has ached for quite a spell and there would be a dull kind of ache right across the center of my back. Many a day I had to give up my work on the farm and go and lie down. I was so sore and lame I would have to go about with a cane. I also had blinding dizzy spells and things appeared dark in front of me. My kidneys were irregular in action, the secretions would pass too frequently; then again would be scanty and painful. I tried most everything I heard of for relief, but Doan's Kidney Pills were the only remedy I ever found to reach my case. After using two boxes, I was cured and put in good shape for work. I couldn't recommend a better remedy for kidney trouble than Doan's Kidney Pills."

Missouri Lady Suffered Until She Tried Cardui.—Says "Result Was Surprising."—Got Along Fine, Became Normal and Healthy.

Springfield, Mo.—"My back was so weak I could hardly stand up, and I would have bearing-down pains and was not well at any time," says Mrs. D. V. Williams, wife of a well-known farmer on Route 6, this place. "I kept getting headaches and having to go to bed," continues Mrs. Williams describing the troubles from which she obtained relief through the use of Cardui. "My husband, having heard of Cardui, proposed getting it for me. 'I saw after taking some Cardui... that I was improving. The result was surprising. I felt like a different person. 'Later I suffered from weakness and weak back, and felt all run-down. I did not rest well at night, I was so nervous and cross. My husband said he would get me some Cardui, which he did. It strengthened me... My doctor said I got along fine. I was in good healthy condition. I cannot say too much for it.'"

Thousands of women have suffered as Mrs. Williams describes, until they found relief from the use of Cardui. Since it has helped so many, you should not hesitate to try Cardui if troubled with womanly ailments.

Dr. F. F. Shannon Lectures in Memphis, Tennessee

(The following article in regard to Louisiana's most famous citizen is taken from the Memphis Commercial Appeal of April 20th): Dr. Frederick F. Shannon, native of Tennessee, regarded by many as one of America's foremost pulpits orators and who for the past year has filled the vacancy left by the death of Dr. Frank W. Gunsaulus of Central Church (without denomination), Chicago, delivered his first of a series of two lectures at the Goodwyn Institute last night on the subject, "The Soul of America."

As pastor of the Reformed Church in Brooklyn, N. Y., for several years, Dr. Shannon is fully equipped to outline definite views on the religion and national tendencies of Americans. In Brooklyn he took advantage of the opportunity to study the possibility of making true Americans out of immigrants from the continent of Europe and the British Isles. He reports that it took the great war to awaken patriotic citizens of this land to the realization that there were indeed many people here for no more sufficient reason than to garner wealth and return to their native lands, if not in person, at least in allegiance and in thought.

"If ever America needed to take stock of the different peoples enjoying its freedom, it is right now," said the speaker. "America is one of the youngest in the world's family of nations and has had but one real stock-taking period in its history, and that period was during the war which has just ended."

"As Americans we believe in loyalty to America. In 1914 we found that our country was divided, and I can give no better illustration than that offered, unconsciously, by a member of the Reformed Church in Brooklyn. This gentleman, at the outbreak of the war, called Americans liars, money changers and all manner of unsavory names. He came to this country in his early manhood and rose from an humble position to be the head of a large business concern. He took advantage of the educational facilities afforded by the City of New York and practically owed everything he had to America, but his heart was in his native land. To such a man I would gladly contribute to his passage back home, and I am sure all right-thinking Americans would do likewise. Because we want real Americans, 100 per cent patriots."

America Always First.

"Divided loyalty means a divided citizenship; a divided citizenship means a divided government, and a divided government means a chaotic nation. By the word 'loyalty,' we do not mean that Americans are the only people on earth. Because we love America is no reason for hating every other nation on earth. Prejudicial nationalism is bad; it is decidedly narrow and foolish. But, on the other hand, it is no more dangerous than the harum-scarum brand of internationalism recommended by extremists."

"No man today is so broad and vast of mentality that he can say that all nations look alike to him. He cannot say that he loves all the nations of the earth as well as he does his own native land. It is not human. In fact, it is no more human than for a man to say that he loves all women as well as he does his wife or reverses all mothers as he does his own mother."

"I do not believe that there is anything finer in the world than motherhood. It is next to Godliness in all women, who aspire to it, but my own mother in the mountains of Kentucky is a great deal more dear; her face is far sweeter and lovelier than any other mother on earth to me. Let us be human, above all things, for Jesus Christ said that a human soul was worth more than all the world."

"Dollars are of no use unless a human need is reached with them. And to be truly human, we must become Christianized. Man is afraid of the devil within him, unless he accepts Christ and tries to follow His teachings."

"About every 200 years throughout the history of the world some colossal fool sets himself up as having been divinely appointed to organize a super-government to rule the world. Thank God this dream has never been and never will be realized for this reason:

"Alfred Russell Wallace, an inspired writer, spoke this truth, 'Infinite variety is the law of the universe.' Each great and small nation has contributed something to the good of the world. The Greeks contributed rare beauty of form. The Romans were great architects, builders, lawyers and artists. Germany before her fall offered great scientific discoveries and her people were amazingly efficient. The French are second only to the Greeks in their appreciation of the delicate touch of beauty. America's passion is for freedom, justice and beauty. It is the infinite variety that rejuvenates and sustains."

"Americans believe that every nation has the right to live its own life, so long as by so doing that nation does not infringe upon the rights of others. If America, France and England forget the small nations, to just that extent will God forget them. Belgium was a little nation, but she said 'No!' to Germany, and by so doing saved the world. Belgium was trampled under foot, but she never lost her soul. If a nation loses its soul, it is only counting time until it will be interred in a national graveyard. America simply cannot forget the rights of the small nations."

Government Belongs to People.

"America believes that the government belongs to the people and not the people to the government, and we must keep this idea in mind, when we train our children, for it has been truly said that a nation may be entirely revolutionized in one generation. Germans lauded war and militarism. They taught their children as much for 40 years, and this poisonous doctrine sapped the morale of the nation. 'Government must necessarily exist for the people and it must take orders from the people. There is no militarism in the history of the world that was not beaten at his own game in the end. Might is not right, and it never will be. It is the eternal law of God that right is right.'"

"Business men are realizing that it pays to be honest. Only recently I was going east with a friend of mine, who is the president of a big steel corporation. He said that he was preaching this principle to his employees and to his business associates. True, it may not have originated from a high source of spirituality, but nevertheless the principle is being realized more and more daily."

"We must, above all things, Americanize our own people, because a lot of them need it badly. Today offers the greatest chance for the proper education of children that has occurred in many years. As George Bernard Shaw says, 'It must be either Utopia or Hell' and for my part I want it to be the former. We must strengthen our capacity for humanization, for to be truly human is indeed a great thing in itself."

"Let us be truly democratic and brotherly. There is so much good to be done, by just being human. Let us remove the masks of bogus aristocracy and be tolerant and considerate and natural."

"The trouble with America today is that we care more for stocks and bonds than we do for human beings. Our industrial machinery grinds out thousands of lives daily, and for what purpose? We think more of high buildings, great factories and the conveniences of a whirlwind existence than we do of human life."

"The reason why Alfred the Great was truly great, is because he believed that Christ's Sermon on the Mount was the greatest sermon ever preached, and he tried to follow the teachings therein and base his government upon the principles set forth. Without Christ, we will never succeed."

Dr. Shannon will speak tonight on "The House of a Human."

CONFERENCE OF MOUNTAIN TEACHERS

The ninth annual Conference of Mountain Teachers at Knoxville April 7, has an unusually large attendance. One of the brief addresses which gives the spirit of the whole conference was given by President Frost on "The Aims of Our Mountain Work," and may be summarized as follows:

I almost wish that you had never heard of the mountains so that I could describe them to you for the first time. To many of us the mountains have come to be an old story, and we are not moved as we should be by their beauty and interest, and by their importance in God's plan for America."

First of all, our southern mountain region is extensive. The Bureau of Education marks off two hundred and fifteen counties in the Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and Kentucky as constituting the mountain region. And some of us think that half a dozen other counties, at least, might properly be added. This, then, is a region larger than the whole German Empire."

And, in the second place, the conditions of life in this mountain region are super-rural. Educators and statesmen have just discovered that America consists of something besides New York, Chicago and the smaller cities. There are to be like them. To feed and warm the cities we must have the country districts. And many of us think that the best and most truly American people are those from rural homes. Now, all the conditions of country life are intensified in the mountains. A mountain family is farther from its neighbors, has more difficulty in getting to market or to church, and, in general, is more shut in, and at the same time, more self-sufficient and more independent."

And, in the third place, our mountains are inhabited by the most un-mixed American population to be found anywhere in our land. The majority of the mountain folks are descendants of Revolutionary soldiers. In many counties there is not a single negro or a single foreigner. Coming as they do from English and Scotch stock, they are "red hot" Protestants. The Great War certainly showed their patriotism. And they have one other notable characteristic—they are prolific. The American families in eastern cities have few children and are dying out, but a mountain household always numbers a good "baker's dozen."

Now we mountain teachers are here because we have profound faith in the future of the mountain people. But we recognize their special handicaps and difficulties. The first of these is not what is called poverty, but lack of money and material resources. The first settlers had plenty of good valley land for their own use, and in addition good hunting. But as the mountains filled up, the good land has been exhausted and people have been forced to plow impossible hillsides. The mountains have no navigable streams or inland lakes to serve as a means of communication. Of course they could have no Erie Canal, and until recently no railroads. Their mineral wealth from markets. Their mineral wealth has but recently been opened up, so that while in New York State there is three thousand dollars of taxable property for every child of school age, there is in our southern mountains less than three hundred dollars worth of taxable property. It is necessary, therefore, for the government and the states and the great religious bodies to send educational aid into the mountain region. There are some 200 schools in the mountains sustained by religious bodies and other outside aid, and there ought to be 2,000."

Their second handicap is the lack of primary education. A surprising proportion of the picked young men who went from the mountains to serve their country in France were unable to read and write. And there is a still larger proportion among the older people who lack this fundamental advantage. If a large proportion of the people are without libraries, newspapers, and other means of getting at the thought and progress of the times, they are at a great disadvantage."

And a third handicap is a certain deficiency in the enforcement of law. The lawlessness of the mountains has been exaggerated, but it is true that in these super-rural regions the government does not always afford protection, and we have more than our share of feuds and "killings."

But more significant than the "killings" is the lack of enforcement of the laws for highways, and for school attendance. Most of the people are far from school, many schools are poor and of short duration, and on an average mountain children attend school only about fifty days in the year!

Now this backward condition of so many millions of native born Americans constitutes an emergency as real as that of war or pestilence. When I ask for aid for the mountain people, I am speaking for those who are voiceless—they cannot speak for themselves. And I appeal for them not only because they are in need, but because America is in need of them."

With all their handicaps, the people of the mountains have no cause to hang their heads. If not many of them are rich, on the other hand very few of them can be called degraded. A woman is safer on a lonely mountain road than she is in the suburbs of New York or Cleveland. Family affection, patriotism, and neighborliness are nowhere more finely developed. Every home has its Bible and hymn book. And the much abused mountain preacher can show among his people as much love and prayer and sacrifice as the cultured clergy of the big towns."

What, then, shall be our aims in undertaking to bring neighborly assistance and to speed up progress in this mountain region? We will venture to mention four supreme aims for every mountain teacher:

First, let us by all means preserve the virtue, the independence and the patriotism that are already flourishing in these mountains. Too many northern teachers have made the mistake of failing to recognize or understand the great superiorities of the mountain people in these respects. We have splendid foundations on which to build."

Secondly, it should be our aim to raise up leaders, great and small, among the mountain people themselves. We can never bring in enough preachers and teachers from the north or from the Blue Grass to do the work that needs to be done; and if we could, they would not be the best ones to do it. There must be two or three enlightened and consecrated spirits in every smallest valley to organize the Sunday-school and the corn club; to see to it that the schoolhouse is repaired and to set the pace for the good people whose own progress and full development depend upon a leader. And there must be some great leaders, leaders for each mountain state and for the region as a whole, who know what only a mountain-born man can know, and feel what only a mountain-born man can feel."

In the third place our aim must be to make the mountains a better place to be born in. Too much of American education seeks merely to benefit the individual. The business college sends out its flaming advertisement, "Come to us and we will fit you to go to town and earn big money." And the Christian college is scarcely less mercenary in its appeal. It says, "Come to us and we will give you social distinction, a great deal of fun, and enable you to leave the mountains and cut a figure in the great world." Now, the true aim of the mountain teacher is to benefit the whole community. We are to awaken mountain patriotism, and train our students to work not for themselves but for their home communities. We know what the best mountain counties in Scotland are. A little education of the right kind can make the homes of our mountains just as good. We can bring to to pass that every child born by the humblest mountain fireside shall have a chance and a share in all the blessings of American civilization."

Now for a fourth aim I wish to propose something definite—the setting of two goals, one immediate and the other not too remote. The schools of the mountains do not at all measure up to their task. We are hardly keeping pace with the natural increase of population. We have not even plans to reach the entire population of the mountains and to do them the good they need. Now we cannot afford to move so slowly. Let us resolve here and now that we will double the attendance at every mountain school next year, and that within twenty years, we will abolish all the excess of poverty, illiteracy and lawlessness in these mountains and bring their people up to the full average of American opportunity."

SETTLING IN TERMS OF PRODUCT IS SOUND BASIS FOR FARM RENT

The Crop Yield Should Bear a Close Relation to the Rent Per Acre.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Thomas Kashrent greeted his landlord, John Acreowner, in the Kashrent kitchen. The visitor took the chair offered and filled his pipe.

"Thomas," said he, when their pipes were well alight, "I want to get you thinking over an idea that I picked up the other day from a bulletin sent out to me by the United States Department of Agriculture. It's made up by the office of farm management and its subject matter is of interest to us both. The title is, 'The Farm Lease Contract'."

"Now," he continued, "I'd be a pretty poor judge of human nature if I didn't know that you're feeling a little blue over that cash-rent contract you signed with me last fall. You realize that there are changed conditions, since we made out that lease, that will make it hard for you to pay cash—and you're one of those men whose word is as good as his bond. Neither of us knew when we signed that paper that grain and other farm produce were going to take the tumble they have taken, but it doesn't alter the fact that our contract, as it stands, is hard on you."

Farmer Hard Hit.

"Prices certainly dropped," agreed Kashrent, with a regretful sigh. "They slumped before I had a chance to haul what I intended to sell. All things considered, I'd have been better off if we'd taken the farm on shares instead of on a cash basis."

The landlord nodded understandingly.

"I'm not here to tell you that I'll reduce your rent materially, nor am I going to offer to change the present contract for a contract on the share basis, but I'm going to propose something that is the next thing to it. I'm going to try to show you that I appreciate a good, honest tenant. In case grain is up again by fall you may be able to pay the agreed cash and still make a fair profit. Besides, my own expenditures are more or less fixed and I must have cash to meet them with, but I'm going to see if I can't help you to help me by meeting you half-way."

"What do you think of adding a clause to the contract whereby you will be given the option of paying me in terms of bushels of corn, oats, or wheat? This Farmers' Bulletin I spoke of tells about similar arrangements which southern farm owners and tenants have put into practice. A good bit of cotton land is rented on a basis such that the tenant pays so many bales, or so many pounds of cotton, for the use of the land for a year. The amount of the rent is closely related, or should be, to the value of the produce which the tenant is able to raise—that's why farmers and landlords find difficulty in fixing the rent every year. They're trying to put a value on a crop that isn't out of the ground yet, you see. If you agree to pay me so many bushels of grain instead of a fixed amount in dollars and cents, I'll be taking my chance along with you and our good and bad years will run along together. What do you think of the idea?"

"I believe we can come to an agreement," Mr. Acreowner—one that will be just to both of us. If the terms are right you'll stand a chance of getting a little more than your original rent to compensate for taking a share in the risk that I must carry alone now. That's fair. How can we figure it out?"

"Let's suppose that it takes 300 bushels of grain to pay the cash rent under average conditions. Now suppose we add 10 per cent to cover my risk of a further drop in prices. We can hit an average by going over the records for a few years back and figuring from them just how many bushels had to be sold each year to bring in the amount of the rent in cash. Here are some figures I worked out last evening—they show the average portion of the corn crop that was needed to pay the cash rent over a 10-year period."

He handed his tenant a sheet of figures that looked much like this:

Year.	Price at which the corn acre in cash rent sold.	Cash rent per acre.	Bushels of corn it took to pay the cash rent on an acre.
1911	$.55	$2.00	5.7
1912	.55	2.00	5.5
1913	.55	2.00	5.5
1914	.55	2.00	5.5
1915	.55	2.00	5.5
1916	.55	2.00	5.5
1917	1.00	4.00	5.7
1918	1.25	5.00	4.1
1919	1.25	5.00	5.0
1920	.44	7.00	10.9
Average			6.3

"Well," observed Kashrent after a pause, "that puts the business in a new light, doesn't it? To relieve me from the necessity of making cash payments you're willing to take the value in corn with an additional 10 per cent to cover your liabilities if the price goes away down? Is that it? Then I'd be renting the land from you for about 7 bushels of corn for each acre? I'll take you up if that's true. Why, look, man! It took nearly 11 bushels to pay the rent on an acre last year—by your own figures!"

"Let's hope that was an exceptional year," smiled Acreowner. "Anyway, I'll come out all right in the long run."

Details to Decide.

They had many questions to decide before the matter was finally settled. They had to agree whether or not the entire rent was to be settled in terms of corn, or whether other crops should have a share. They decided the quality of the quality of the corn that Mr. Kashrent was to bring his landlord, and where it was to be delivered. There was a question as to whether or not a date should be established on which the tenant must declare his option—cash or corn—and whether or not the landlord should have a similar choice. Perhaps they had to recast the whole lease to agree to the new terms of payment and without reference to the cash at all, but in the end they had a contract which gave justice and protection to both parties if crop prices should prove so unstable as some men predict they will be. In addition, Mr. Kashrent has a landlord whom he respects and Mr. Acreowner has a tenant whom he can rely upon.

Landlords and tenants who find themselves facing a similar problem can get additional information from the office of farm management and farm economics, United States Department of Agriculture, to aid them in making the adjustment.

ALMANAC IS PLENARY GUIDE TO FARM WORK

Good Bits of Advice by Department of Agriculture.

Farmers Reminded to Do Right Thing at Proper Time and Tell Where Information on Many Subjects May Be Obtained.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

"Beware of false prophets. Don't plant by the moon; but get the best seed and prepare the seed bed, that plant when soil and moisture conditions are right." "Keeping farm accounts never worried Adam; but he was only a gardener." "The owner of a scrub bull should have a leather medal—made from the bull's hide." These bits of farm advice are contained in "An Agricultural Almanac for 1921," issued by the United States Department of Agriculture to remind farmers to do the right thing at the right time and to tell them where to secure information on agricultural subjects.

The almanac, which appears as Farmers' Bulletin 1202, is published, the department says, in response to a large demand from farmers for a calendar of work showing the timely use of new farm facts. Seasonal advice and suggestions are given on such topics as the weather, farm operations, marketing, wild life, and woods work. References to other publications of the department tell where detailed information on each subject can be had.

A section on "Farm Helps" discusses farm laws and gives tables and directions for such things as mixing stock feed, fertilizers and spray solutions; weights of seed and grain and other information needed by farmers and their families. A limited number of copies is available for distribution by the United States Department of Agriculture and may be had upon application.

CURE DEFECTS IN TOMATOES

Black Spots May Be Prevented by Treating Seed in Solution of Corrosive Sublimates.

It is claimed that black spots in tomatoes may be prevented to a considerable extent by treating the seeds with a corrosive sublimate solution. One-twentieth of an ounce of corrosive sublimate is dissolved in a gallon of water. The tomato seed is placed in a little bag and soaked in this solution for five minutes and then washed in running water for ten minutes, and then the seed is spread out to dry. In using corrosive sublimate be sure to put the solution in a wooden or earthenware container; corrosive sublimate attacks metal.

OUR FAR-FAMED KENTUCKY DERBY

Men and Women of Renown From All Parts of the World Come to Louisville to Witness the Running of This Historic Race.

CABINET MEMBERS AMONG THOSE IN ATTENDANCE THIS YEAR

Few of our native Kentuckians realize, perhaps, what a truly magnificent world event the Kentucky Derby has come to be.

Year by year, it has grown steadily in popularity, until now it tops all other sporting events on the calendar; thereby advertising the state as millions of dollars' worth of space in the public prints could not possibly do, besides attracting periodically hosts of people who spend their money freely and greatly benefiting an industry of vast importance to Kentucky in particular—the breeding of the thoroughbred horse.

The list of personages who cheered the winner of the 1921 Kentucky Derby would stretch out far beyond the limitations of this little article. Suffice to say that it included several members of President Harding's cabinet; distinguished visitors from abroad and financial and commercial giants from all parts of the country; some of the latter the owners of horses that started in the Derby and heavy investors in Kentucky estates, elaborately improved and primarily maintained as breeding establishments.

BLAINE

On Sunday, May 1, 1921, the angel of death visited the home of Mrs. L. C. Swetnam and claimed as his own her loving husband. Leander was born Sept. 20, 1849, was the son of Eliza and Cynthia Swetnam. He was raised near his home where he died. When young he was married to Rosa Griffith. To this union was born one boy and four girls. The boy and his mother joined the host of angels a good many years ago. His second wife was Miss Mary Winter of Richardson. To this union was born one girl and three boys. The two oldest boys had been claimed by the angel of death and were waiting to welcome their father home.

Uncle Leander was a kind and loving father and one of our country's best citizens and will be missed by everyone in the country. He also leaves one brother and five sisters. We can say, dear friends and relatives, weep not for Uncle Leander, for while we are left here in a world of sorrow, he is resting around God's bright throne where sickness, pain, sorrow or death never come. It is just one more bright link to draw us on to God, so let us not weep as those that have no hope, but prepare to meet him on God's beautiful shore where all will be peace, happiness and love. A NIECE.

IN MEMORY

The death angel again has visited the home of Rev. J. C. L. Moore of Fallsburg, and has claimed for its own his precious wife, who departed this life May 7, 1921. "Aunt Martha," as we all called her, was a loving wife and affectionate mother and faithful to her profession of religion. She was a member of the Methodist Church South and lived a devoted Christian since early life. She died in full faith of a living triumph after death. She always had a bright smile for every one she met. I would say to her children and loved ones to follow Aunt Martha's teachings and you will clasp hands with her again, where parting will never come.

Brother J. C. L. Moore has our heartfelt sympathies. At longest it will be a short time until he meets with his loving wife in that bright city not made with hands.

Aunt Martha was about seventy years of age. She was the mother of six boys and two girls, all living except one, who preceded her to the far beyond about ten years ago. A. C. M. W.
